

SPEAKER, EDUCATOR, ENTREPRENEUR

DR. REGGIE WRIGHT JR

Dr. Reggie Wright, a former professional basketball player, has been featured on CNN for his work with educating and empowering students. Dr. Wright is the owner and founder of Reggie Wright Enterprise, a mentor for an organization called Raising Black Men, and is on the Board of Directors for two non-profit organizations: Urban Promise of Trenton and Charlie & Tonja Ward Family Foundation. Dr. Wright is guided by his ethics and passion to serve others and help them achieve success.

TALK TOPICS

Student Engagement

- Character Education
- Social Emotional Competency
- Mental Health

Professional Development

- SEL Strategies for Success
- Strengthening Relationships / Building Rapport
- Classroom Management

Leadership Development

- Maximizing Your Full Potential
- Overcoming Opposition and Adversity
- Emotional Intelligence

 609-429-4116

AS FEATURED ON

"Dr. Reggie Wright presented a riveting workshop entitled "Allergic to Average". His passion for students at large was not only evident but contagious. He gave a much needed refresher for our "why" and every educator needs an opportunity to glean from his expertise."

Debra Miller, Principal, Rivertree Academy

"I wanted to take a moment to thank you and comment on your presentation to our CareTeam this morning. You're a truly gifted speaker, and I think it was a very worthwhile exercise for the staff. Your presentation really covered the spectrum in my opinion, and I felt your message "connected" with much of the staff."

Peter Kulbacki, Founder of Brunswick Memorial Funeral Home

"The energy that Dr. Wright brought to our convocation was amazing. I think our educators saw his compassion, and he kept it relevant. It was so easy to relate to what he was saying, and it inspired our entire staff to take his "nuggets" and easily apply them to our job. Don't hesitate to book him."

Althea Dixon, Superintendent, Paris Independent School District (Paris, Texas)

FOLLOW US ON

 www.reggiwrightjr.com

 info@reggiwrightjr.com